Help Your Patients Reach Their Ultimate Potential!

Provides athletes with improved strength and balance

- Clinically proven that lower jaw is not in optimal position in 90 percent of the population.
- PPM applies concepts of neuromuscular dentistry and TENS technology to uncover and utilize most comfortable and relaxed jaw positions.
- Improves muscle recruitment and vertebrae alignment by properly aligning and relaxing facial, neck and jaw muscles.
- More advantageous head position improves airway patency and frees up energy, allowing an athlete to perform at a higher level.

Part of a comprehensive mouthguard system

- PPM protects upper dentition, while another component holds the lower jaw in optimal position.
- Greatly reduces risk of athlete suffering a concussion during contact sports.

Proven in actual "game-day" situations

- Currently in use by over 150 professional athletes in the NFL, NBA, MLB, CFL and NHL.
- Utilized by over 1000 collegiate and amateur athletes.
- "Weekend warriors" benefit as well no matter what the sport (e.g., golf, running, swimming, lifting weights, or cycling).

Give your patients better balance, a longer golf drive, improve their endurance and cut seconds off their times. In fact, anyone who requires speed, balance, agility, flexibility, strength concentration and coordination between their brain and their body will benefit from the PPM, assuming there is a disparity in the alignment between the neuromuscular structures of their head and neck, and their posture.
